

Announcing Summer Graduate Institute for Foreign Language Teachers Appalachian State University, Boone, NC

July 12-July 30, 2010

Graduate-level courses in French, Spanish, and Foreign Language Methods, and an undergraduate course in German

Join us in the mountains of North Carolina for an intensive 1, 2 or 3-week institute where you can expand your content knowledge, practice your target language, and get new ideas for teaching.

Full, 3-week courses can earn academic credit; one-week modules within each course are flexible options for those needing a shorter stay.

Morning instruction (3 hours) is offered in the target language; afternoon methods course (3 hours) is taught in English with target language work groups. Mid-day we hold target language lunches. Evening films and other cultural events (Appalachian Summer Festival) make your experience enjoyable and rich.

Low-cost on-campus housing and meals (single rooms in suites of 4) are available for each week, with or without a weekend stay. Many participants stay Sunday-Thursday nights and drive home on weekends. All participants pay an Institute fee which includes a catered lunch. See more at: <http://www.fl.appstate.edu> → Graduate Study.

Overview of Courses for Summer 2010--see also course descriptions posted to the web!

French Cultural Studies

German Culture and Civilization (undergrad, uses film!)

Hispanic Cultural Studies

Materials Design for Developing L2 Literacy Skills

Apply for academic credit no later than June 15, but courses may fill earlier. For-credit application requires all college transcripts. Application is online at: <http://www.graduate.appstate.edu>.